Personalised homecare for people living with learning disabilities

Our carers can support people with a wide range of complex support needs including physical disabilities, brain injury sensory impairment, autistic spectrum disorders and people with a disabled parent. We aim to support people with learning disabilities to live independently as part of their local community.

Manorcourt Homecare can help with day-to-day chores, promote independence and support people living in their own home. Improve life skills and rehabilitate helping people to achieve their goals.

Daily care

Daily care can range from an hour to 24-hour care. Our approach is flexible and 'person-centered' helping clients to maintain independence in their own home with a daily routine.

We can help with

- Keeping the home tidy, washing, ironing
- Cooking healthy meals to ensure good nutrition
- Medication support
- Managing a budget and paying bills
- Visits to local shops
- Connecting with the local community
- Socialising with friends and family
- Regular meet-ups with other carers and clients

Our carers

Our dedicated care assistants are fully trained following a recruitment process to meet exacting standards. Continuing regular training ensures our carers maintain their skills and they are committed to go the extra mile for their clients. We are CQC inspected and rated.

Assessing care needs

Initially our care manager will visit each person to assess their needs. Each client has a personalised care plan tailored to their requirements. A care manager will carefully match carers to clients taking into account their needs and personality, and our extensive local knowledge. We work closely with healthcare professionals and hospitals including district nurses, physiotherapists, occupational therapists, speech and language therapists and podiatrists.

Caring is at the heart of everything we do

Work with us

Our service is pro-active and flexible. We take a partnership approach to working with commissioners, local authorities, support teams, housing providers, individuals and families. We begin by collaborating with you to develop a thorough understanding of needs. Support packages are co-produced to allow smooth transitions and personalised ongoing support.

Our support packages are tailored to the individual and cover everyday needs as well as help to meet life goals and ambitions. We co-produce a broad and responsive range of support, particularly in response to changing and challenging needs. We build and maintain open, solutions-focused relationships that are based on sharing knowledge and expertise.

Our carers receive comprehensive training when they join the Manorcourt team and professional development throughout their career with us. Our team is committed to delivering high quality, person-centred care both to individuals and those they share their lives with.

Who do we support?

Our experience of working with a wide range of individuals means we know how to tailor services to meet the needs of a broad range of individuals from children to young adults and adults and those at the end of life. We support people living with autism, learning disabilities and brain injuries to live at home some or part of the time and moves home from hospital and assessment and treatment units. Our services are caring and professional in both planned and crisis situations. The people we care for are at the heart of our service.

Contact us

At Manorcourt Homecare we pride ourselves in prompt and open communication with commissioners and families – good communication is a fundamental part of our service. If you have a new care assessment in place or current services require adjustment or overhaul, we will work with you to reach a thorough understanding of what is required.
